ALMSHOUSE FIRE ALARM SOUNDED

Blaze, However, was in the House of Michael Clifford and was Quickly Put Out-Damage will Not be Large -Fire Caused by Overheated Pips.

The alarm sent in from box 17, the private fire siarm box at the almshouse, caused much excitement in the fire department and to others who recognized the call on Friday afternoon. The alarm was sounded at 5.25 o'clock, but instead of being for a fire at the almshouse it was for a fire in the house owned by Michael Clifford at No. 297 Asylum street. The department made the long run quickly, and the fire was soon out, the recall being sounded in about twenty minutes. The fire was caused by an overheated stovepipe in a basement kitchen, which went through a partion into a back room. The pipe set fire to a coat which was through a partion into a back room. The pipe set fire to a coat which was hunging there and as it fell down quite a fire was started. It was put out, however, without much damage, although it was kindling rapidly. The loss will not be large.

Chemical companies No. 2 and No. 3, Engine company No. 1, with tender and Truck company No. 1, all responded to the alarm, as the box is supposed to be struck only for a fire at the almshouse and called it by telephone to learn of the fire, that of March, 1876, when so many lives were lost, being vividity remembered by many.

GAS PLANT EMPLOYES RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS

Overcome by Gas at Purifying House

While Working About Building. While at work in the purifying house at the gas plant this week, Thomas Houliban and Fitch Allen had claned up at Norwich postoffice Fri-day night af ter the busiest Christmas season he has yet experienced. All south and west bound mail was sent out on the best main. Thomas Houlihan and Fitch Allen had a close call from asphyxlation, as they were both rendered unconscious and a doctor was called to attend before they recovered. A manhole was opened in the house and the gas, being under high pressure, overcame them before they realized their situation and could get to fresh air. They were unconscious and Dr. Harriman was called to the plant, by which time Houlihan had recovered sufficiently to walk about, but Mr. Allen was completely out. He revived later, however, and neither suffered any but the usual results, such as vomiting and a severe headache.

Others who tried to close the manhole found it almost impossible to stay out on the boat train, which was an hour late, and all north bound mail is ready for the first trains this morn-ing. The postoffice clerks have been ing. The postoffice clerks have been hustling every minute to get the Christmas mall through, and the carriers have probably handled a larger amount of matter this year than ever before. THOUGHT DEAD MAN

CAME FROM JEWETT CITY. nternational Hotel Man Believes Him to Be a Polish Fellow Who Started

The only clue to the identity of the man who was killed by the south-bound freight train at the gashouse crossing Thursday night was given on Friday morning, when a man from the International hotel called at the rooms of Undertaker Gager and from the clothing he was of the opinion that he was a Polish fellow who belonged in Jewett City. He stated that if he was the one he thought him that the fellow had been to the city and, being without money, started to walk to his home.

The fact has been communicated to Coroner Brown and he will make an enfort to learn if he is the Jewett City man.

Fred Rouleau, a barber on Franklin guare, made an effort on Friday after-noon to identify the unknown man cilled near the electric light station Thursday night. From the fact that the man was wearing a red that the man was wearing a red the Mr. Rouleau thought it might be a tramp barber from Milford, Mass., to whom he gave a red tie on Wednesday, but upon visiting Undertaker. Gager's morgue and looking at the clothing and the man's hands he decided that it was not the man he thought.
